to start in our Hamburg office as soon as possible

Statista.com unites professional IT experts, industry-savvy researchers and renowned analysts. Together, we operate one of the world's leading statistics portal. Using our innovative and intuitive research tool, we supply our international customers from economic, educational and media backgrounds with current and relevant quantitative data. Be a part of this multiple award-winning company and contribute to its success story.

Your task:

- Conducting data research on key industries and topics associated with the Czech market, utilizing Czech-language sources, where possible;
- Creating online statistical content covering key industries, with a focus on Czechia;
- Processing and publishing editorial texts in English for the statista.com platform, presenting information about the Czech Republic in English to the global audience;
- Managing web content using Statista's own content management system (CMS);
- Monitoring data usage and keeping the database up-to-date;

Your background:

- Successful completion of undergraduate studies;
- Exceptional written and spoken English (minimum C1 level);
- Native or native - level understanding of the Czech language. Other language skills a plus;
- Ability to describe complicated data in a concise and comprehensible manner;
- Ability to master our editorial style and design guidelines;
- Structured, organized and independent working style with attention to quality, detail and accuracy;

Our offer:

You will work in an exciting and innovative company in the heart of Hamburg. As part of a dynamic team, you will find an excellent working environment with little hierarchy and great potential for promotion within the company.

During the first six months, you will become familiar with our content management system and business practices while publishing content in English. Upon completion of this period you will be responsible for various topics on the Czech market, working as a Junior Researcher for Statista.com

We look forward to your application via e-mail. Please include your salary expectations among your application material.
